Music Department – Standards for Early Tenure and Early Promotion
Approved 6/1/04

CAM 344.7 provides that a candidate for early tenure must show outstanding work in teaching, scholarship/creative work, and service. In the Music Department we understand 'outstanding' to imply quality of work that demonstrably surpasses the standard for normal tenure, since a positive early decision must be based on the promise of significant future, as well as current, achievements.

CAM 342.8 b/c provides that candidates for early promotion must present exceptional work. In the Music Department, this standard means that a candidate must display quality of work that demonstrably surpasses the standard for normal promotion in teaching, research/creative work, and service, since a positive early decision must be based on the promise of significant future, as well as current achievements.
