VI. Discussion Item(s):
   A. Provost candidates: (Hannings) as a member of the selection committee for the Provost position requested some feedback from the Executive Committee members to take back to the selection committee: Dr. James Applegate – Concerns with his view on institutional tenure and research and distant learning as part of faculty workload. Extremely quick on his feet but no sense of what he stands for, concern with his strong ideas and worry about his lack of flexibility. Dr. William Durgin – has a number of innovative approaches that might be applicable to Cal Poly, has a lot of ideas since he comes from a polytechnic institution. Janice Schach, FASLA – Conducted herself very well, proven that she has been very successful, nice but presentation was shallow, faculty at Clemson have some concerns about her. A potential 4th candidate might be on campus at the end of the month for a full interview. Everybody is encouraged to submit in writing a pro/con statement to President Baker by the end of the month. Provost wanted to reinstate that the President will not hire anyone who is seen as unacceptable by the committee but he does reserve the right to select anyone who is seen as acceptable by the committee.

   B. Student commitment to general education courses: Due to lack of time, this item was not discussed.
