Revisit report on encouraging RSCA committee recommendation. Fall 2017 – Winter 2018	The committee is looking at details of the past work from this committee (with different membership). The issues currently under consideration are discussed in the Notes.
Discuss relationship between high-impact practices (HIPS) and service learning on undergraduate research. Academic year 2017-2018	Committee recognizes the excellent work from CoSAM in this area and will look to find ideas that may be transferable to other disciplines. See other relevant issues under discussion in the committee below.

NOTES/Meeting Minutes:

The committee met on 10/10/2017. Following members were present:
Alexander, Chand, Kachlakev, Kitts, O’Hara, Pande, Schwab.

At the meeting, after the Introductions following issues were discussed:

- Revisit report on encouraging RSCA committee recommendation.
 - Bringing research into classroom
 - Curricular adoption of RSCA and the best practices to incorporate these adoptions into RPT process would help RSCA at Cal Poly. Strong pedagogy is a requirement for successful Cal Poly faculty and RSCA activity adoptions would fit well with Cal Poly’s culture and in turn strengthen Scholarship.
 - Are faculty getting enough credit for RSCA activities and MS thesis advising?
