

CAL POLY
DESIGN VILLAGE

BALANCE

2018

As currently the only truly-native competition hosted by Cal Poly's prestigious undergraduate Architecture program, the Design Village competition has a long history and has become one of the most anticipated events of the year for the College of Architecture & Environmental Design (CAED). True to our "learn by doing" motto, competitors design, build, and inhabit shelters in Poly Canyon. This year our theme is Balance. Balance is to offset or compare the value of one element with another. In your design, select two contrasting concepts and decide how they interact. Consider how the concepts act alone and then define the moments where they meet and under what conditions they intersect.
