Farm City Night

Last Thursday night, members from the BRAE department participated in Farm City Night at Farmer’s Market. Farm City Night is a night for clubs from the College of Agriculture, Food & Environmental Sciences to put on an educational exhibit demonstrating current technology in Agriculture.

According to Dr. Zohns, “AES has always had the largest, most interactive, noisy, entertaining, enjoyable display during farmer’s market since 1990.”

Make sure to check out the 2015 Farm City Night!

The California Energy & Utility Workforce Consortium presents

Careers in Energy Week Contest

Careers in Energy Week, from October 13-19, 2014, is a nationwide effort to increase awareness about energy careers and promote science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) education and address the need for a qualified, diverse energy industry workforce.

Contest Guidelines

Energy and utility companies provide a diversity of careers not only in our core business (ex: gas, electricity, water) but also in our skills (ex: engineering, skilled trades, technology and business) and in the broad spectrum of people we strive to employ now and in the future (ex: minorities, women, veterans, people with disabilities, and those from our LGBT communities).

Use any of the following forms of media (PowerPoint presentation, essay, video, PDF poster) to highlight an aspect of diversity you think is valuable for utility companies, to encourage your student peers to pursue careers in energy, and demonstrate why your chosen diversity topic should inspire our future.

For full guidelines and how to submit, visit www.getintoenergyca.com after October 13, 2014.
