WINE AND VITICUL TURE

DEPARTMENT

OVERVIEW

MAJOR

CONCENTRATIONS

VITICUL TURE • ENOLOGY • WINE BUSINESS

14 acres of on-campus vineyards enable hands-on, real-world learning while promoting environmentally and economically sustainable vineyard practices.

I loved being in the wine and viticulture major because the faculty is small – you really get to know them. The curriculum is well rounded, so no matter your concentration you take classes in viticulture, wine making, and wine business, graduating with a full understanding of the wine industry.”

STUDENT IMPACT
Viticulture courses teach all aspects of quality wine grape production, including site evaluation and vineyard development, pest management, sustainability and state-of-the-art cultural practices. Enology, the science of wine and winemaking, gives students a strong foundation in chemistry and microbiology. Enology students monitor and assess wines and winemaking choices using sensory, chemical and microbiological analyses. Classes in wine business focus on logistics, sales, management and marketing strategies. The department’s 14-acre vineyard and JUSTIN and J. LOHR Center for Wine and Viticulture give students the hands-on experience that industry has come to expect from Cal Poly’s career-ready graduates — graduates prepared to make their mark in the multidimensional wine industry anywhere in the world. Internships and participation in undergraduate research programs, clubs and enterprise projects expand students’ Learn by Doing experiences and further prepare them to make a difference in their chosen field from day one.

Cal Poly’s location in the heart of the Central Coast wine region assures students have access to some of the best growing conditions and internship opportunities in the industry. Our students gain valuable vineyard and winery experience locally in Paso Robles, San Luis Obispo, Santa Maria and Arroyo Grande; up and down the state of California;
