Campus Community Invited to Preview the Updated Cal Poly Brand April 30

The campus community will get its first look at the refreshed Cal Poly identity, brand and logo on Tuesday, April 30. Faculty, staff and students are invited to join President Armstrong to officially open the new Welcome Center in building 172H in yak?itutu at 9:30 a.m. The center is the first campus space to be outfitted with the updated branding, colors and graphics. After a ribbon cutting, the Cal Poly community is invited to a brand experience event on Mott Lawn from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. to see the evolution of the Cal Poly logo, explore the updated brand colors, and give feedback on new website designs. Enjoy snacks, music and spirited giveaways. Cal Poly's brand goes far beyond a new logo; it aligns the university's visual, narrative and digital presence so we can better serve our state as a top-tier learning institution. For more than a year, the University Marketing office led the brand development process, which included gathering more than 6,500 survey responses from the Cal Poly community. Look for new branding to be put into use on campus in the fall. Anyone with questions about the Cal Poly brand can reach out to University Marketing at branding@calpoly.edu.

Share Your Experience in the CPX Survey and Help Make Campus More Inclusive

Thank you to those campus community members who have already shared their experience and feedback in the CPX — Cal Poly Experience — Survey. For those who have not taken it, there is still time to complete the short, confidential survey. Students can now access the survey through the My Cal Poly Portal; look for the CPX Survey announcement and click the "Take the Survey" link. Faculty and staff members should continue to check their Cal Poly email to participate. A link to take the confidential survey was sent April 9 from Damon Williams (noreply@checkbox.com). If you do not see the email, check your spam and junk folders. Cal Poly wants to hear from every student, staff and faculty member so that the university can develop robust action plans to change and improve the campus experience. The data collected in this important study will inform current and future initiatives to further support student and employee success and inclusion. Learn more at diversity.calpoly.edu/cpx/survey.

Student-Run Succulent Sale to be Held May 10-11

More than 100 varieties of succulents will be available at Cal Poly's Succulentopia plant sale from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, May 10, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, May 11, at the Horticulture Unit near the Poly Plant Shop. More than 4,000 plants will be available for purchase. Five students are involved in the student-run project, one of several such hands-on experiences offered by the university's College of Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences' Horticulture and Crop Science Department. The cost of the plants is determined by size: four-inch pots, $4.50; 4.5-inch pots, $5.50; 6-inch succulent garden, $12.50; 8-inch succulent garden, $25; and additional large plants priced accordingly.

Participate in Safety Days with Environmental Health and Safety

Environmental Health and Safety will host a number of events throughout campus to celebrate Cal Poly Safety Days from April 29 to May 3. The week will include events and activities aimed at engaging the campus community to raise awareness of workplace safety and health. Cal Poly Safety Days commemorates the International Labor Organization's World Day for Safety and Health at Work, which has acted to improve occupational safety and health for the past 100 years. Planned events include bike and pedestrian safety, lab safety giveaways, fire safety demos and a special Mixer at Myron's Bistro on Thursday, May 2. All departments are encouraged to participate. Contact Kathryn Villareal for more information at kvilla02@calpoly.edu.

Thirty-One Days of Wellness Kicks Off April 29 with Fair on Dexter Lawn

Campus Health and Wellbeing invites the campus community to participate in the third annual 31 Days of Wellness. Throughout May, with the support of campus and community partners, Campus Health and Wellbeing will showcase the multiple aspects of healthy living. From community wellness, social relations, emotional health, career development, academic success, financial wellbeing and physical health, there will be something for everyone. Students, staff and faculty are invited to come to a Kick-Off Fair from noon to 2 p.m. Monday, April 29, on Dexter Lawn. Discover opportunities for wellness where you work, study and play. Download the Cal Poly Now App at <https://guidebook.com/app/calpolynow/guide/mycpwell/> and look for the "Be Well at Cal Poly" guide for a full list of events. Questions? In Memoriam

Former Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering Department chair and faculty member Don White passed away March 21, 2019. White started his career as a professor in 1987. He later served as department chair until retiring from Cal Poly in 2009. During his tenure as department chair, White was instrumental in the creation of an industry partnership to enhance the educational objectives of the Engineering Management Program (EMP). For nearly a decade, he teamed with faculty from the Industrial Engineering Department and the Orfalea College of Business to forge partnerships between Cal Poly and Fortune 500 companies. White's efforts resulted in a multidisciplinary, collaborative model, $700,000 in donations, and more than 30 industry-defined projects. The excellent reputation of the EMP Industry Partnership resulted in an affiliation with MIT's Leaders for Manufacturing Program. Faculty and staff remember White as a determined, visionary, collaborative, goal-oriented and caring person who loved life. "Don will be missed by many, but never forgotten by those of us who were fortunate enough to have known him," said former colleague Dana Azevedo. "It was an honor for me to have worked with Don. His life was well-lived." A memorial service will be held Saturday, April 27, at 10:30 a.m. at Grace Central Coast, 1350 Osos St., San Luis Obispo.
