Caution Advocated During Election Season

With the 2020 primary election season in full swing, university legal counsel encourages employees to review the CSU handbook of election issues at <https://www2.calstate.edu/csu-system/administration/general-counsel/Documents/Election%20Issues%20Handbook.pdf>. The handbook is designed to educate faculty and staff on appropriate ways to become involved in elections without using university resources or appearing to represent the university, unless authorized by law. It is intended as general guidance only. Specific questions related to elections or political activity can be directed to the appropriate dean's office or supervisor, who will consult with the Office of University Counsel.

Retirements

Susan Olivas is retiring from Cal Poly after 14 years of dedicated service to the university. A Cal Poly alumna (Social Sciences, '90), Olivas returned to campus in 2005 with Academic Affairs as a member of the PeopleSoft Project. She became a lead academic class scheduler and administrator for the university master calendar of events before becoming associate registrar for Catalog, Curriculum and Scheduling in 2010. In this role, Olivas has been instrumental in bringing new technology to campus, including converting the academic catalog to an online format, as well as implementing an online curriculum management system allowing academic departments to review and propose course and program changes through an electronic workflow system. She has led many behind-the-scenes projects, such as the coding and enforcement of course prerequisites that have influenced the day-to-day running of the university. Students will also have seen Olivas' impact on campus. As a member of the Classroom Upgrade Strike Team, she has advocated for additional seats and teaching space for academic classes, as well as identifying university lecture rooms for remodeling and improvement. Most recently she was recognized with the Outstanding Staff Award for the 2018-19 academic year. Her ability to lead by example, with compassion and foresight, will be missed. The campus community is invited to join the Office of the Registrar for a retirement celebration from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 12, in the Rossi Grand Lobby of the Christopher Cohan Performing Arts Center.
