Nominations Sought for Outstanding Staff Award

Staff employees, faculty members and department or division heads are encouraged to submit nominations for the Outstanding Staff Award. The deadline to submit a nomination for the 2020-21 award is Friday, Jan. 15. To be eligible, nominees must be permanent, full-time employees of the university, Corporation or ASI, who have completed at least three years of employment as of Dec. 31, 2020 (10-month employees are eligible). Employees who are not eligible include those represented by bargaining unit 3 (faculty), former recipients of the award and student assistants. The Outstanding Staff Award selection criteria and nomination form can be found on the Administration and Finance website.

Safer Hosts Campaign for Stalking Awareness and Prevention Month

Join Safer in navigating our space together for Stalking Awareness and Prevention Month through Safer's digital campaign: "Know the Case, Reclaim the Space." Since stalking is an often misunderstood and delegitimized form of violence, Safer is aiming to define stalking clearly, analyze its romanticization in media, encourage confidence in intervening toward stalking behaviors and more. Join Safer in bringing education to the campus community and engaging in conversations with peers and colleagues around this topic. Follow Safer on Instagram @calpolysafer to find live Q&As and media analyses. Safer will also give away prizes throughout the month. Learn more about Stalking Awareness and Prevention Month, download a Zoom background and learn the basics about stalking at safer.calpoly.edu/jansam.

Annual Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration to be Held Jan. 20

The campus community is invited to honor Martin Luther King Jr. at the fifth annual celebration from 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 20, via Zoom. The Black Academic Excellence Center in partnership with ASI Events hosts this event to honor King's legacy, to raise awareness of the experiences of people of color at Cal Poly, and to celebrate a campus community member who leads with love and hope to create a better campus for all with the MLK Legacy Award. This event will feature special guest speaker Yusef Salaam, one of the falsely convicted/exonerated "Central Park Five." Salaam has committed himself to advocating and educating people on the issues of false confessions, police brutality, race and law, and the disparities in America's criminal justice system. His story is an example of how the fight for racial justice must remain relevant and persistent. Learn how King's legacy lives on in the experiences of the Cal Poly community and nationally. Join on Zoom at <https://calpoly.zoom.us/j/85781582516> (webinar ID: 857 8158 2516).

COVID-19 Testing Available to Employees

Cal Poly employees are again invited to participate in the university's ongoing testing program, which started Sunday, Jan. 3. The university is continuing to work with a third-party vendor to offer this convenient nasal-swab testing through mid-January, at which time the university plans to transition to a saliva based-testing program. As faculty and staff, you are eligible to participate in both programs. Testing will take place from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily in the Performing Arts Center Lobby through Saturday, Jan. 16. Testing will take place from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily in the Performing Arts Center Lobby through Sunday, Jan. 24 (no testing on Jan. 18). Testing is also available to faculty and staff in the Aliso Conference Room in Poly Canyon Village (171A). Check <https://coronavirus.calpoly.edu/employee-testing> for more information.

Center for Service in Action Seeks Proposals for Change the Status Quo Conference

The Center for Service in Action is seeking session proposals for the 19th annual Change the Status Quo (CSQ) Social Justice Leadership Conference, slated for Saturday, Feb. 27. This year's conference will be entirely virtual and aims to empower students to use the Learn by Doing spirit to challenge social norms, ask critical questions, demand solutions and make lasting social change. Through inspiring workshops, guest speakers and engaging Zoom sessions, students will gain a newfound sense and understanding of social justice and how they can take ownership of their role to advance social change. Proposals are due before midnight Monday, Jan. 18, and should be submitted via email to serviceinaction@calpoly.edu. Interested presenters can learn more and download a proposal form at the CSQ website at <https://serviceinaction.calpoly.edu/CSQ>.

'Exploring Whiteness' Series Starts Jan. 20

The Center for Teaching, Learning and Technology (CTLT) and Office of University Diversity and Inclusion invite faculty and staff to sign up for the co-sponsored series "Exploring Whiteness," a program inspired by Building Anti-Racist White Educators (BARWE). The BARWE curriculum offers opportunities for white educators to work toward anti-racist practices. Over the course of five sessions, participants will explore whiteness, its influence on our personal and professional lives, and work on developing anti-racist practices. This five-session program will take place Wednesdays from 10:30-11:30 a.m., from Jan. 20 and through Feb. 17 via Zoom. Visit https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1R0j0vk0UDIlur9Wu4BG61rpkGphsZa_j4pSOB5vQ354/viewform?edit_requested=true to register. Questions? Retirements

Margie Valine, faculty contracts analyst in the College of Liberal Arts Dean's Office, has retired after 18 years of service. Valine spent her entire Cal Poly career in the CLA Dean's Office, starting out as a receptionist (ASA II) in September 2002. As she took on more responsibilities in the office, she worked her way up to an ASC I and then an ASC II, eventually moving into the analyst position in 2012. She was awarded the CLA's Staff Award for Outstanding Achievement in 2008 and was twice nominated for the university's Outstanding Staff Award. Her expertise and grace will be sorely missed. Prior to coming to Cal Poly, Valine was co-owner, along with her husband, Rod, of Spyglass Village Pharmacy, later known as Spyglass Trading Co., which they closed in 2001. Valine is a Cal Poly alumna in speech communication and was president of FANS (Friends and Alumni Network of Supporters) and the Cal Poly Theatre Program Alumni Group for six years. In retirement, Valine plans to pursue her voice-over acting career, traveling with her husband of 39 years, and enjoying her grandchildren and family, along with her Portuguese Water Dog, Stanley. You can still add messages to her kudoboard at <https://www.kudoboard.com/boards/eJRS86Xg>.
