English Department Chair to Serve as Interim Dean of College of Liberal Arts

Kathryn Rummell has been appointed interim dean of the College of Liberal Arts, effective Aug. 16, Provost and Executive Vice President Kathleen Enz Finken announced in June. Rummell will succeed current Dean Doug Epperson, who will retire in mid-August. Rummell has served as chair of the English Department since 2008, where she has led two successful program reviews, overseen significant revisions to the major and graduate curricula, and created the department’s first advisory board and student career program. Prior to her role as chair, she served as associate chair for six years. Rummell was the recipient of the university’s first Outstanding Advisor Award in 2002 for her work with undergraduate students. She joined Cal Poly in 1997 as an assistant professor, was tenured and promoted to associate professor in 2003, and was promoted to full professor in 2008.

Action Required During Campuswide Wi-Fi Upgrade on July 19

On Thursday, July 19, Information Technology Services (ITS) is updating the campus wireless network to improve Secure Mustang Wireless and eduroam. As a result, users will see a one-time, pop-up window asking them to verify a new certificate. ITS will send out an email to the campus community on July 18 with steps to guide users through the certificate verification process. For more information, visit https://servicedesk.calpoly.edu.

Retirements

Operations Specialist Ricardo Uc will retire this month as one of the longest-serving employees in Information Technology Services. Working with ITS since 1985, Uc is a champion of data center evolution. He oversaw the change of the university’s data center from the time of punch cards to the introduction of the IBM main frame, then updating to Dell servers, and now to the current cloud environment. In addition to his work, Uc is the sitting Unit 9 Representative for CSUEU, and was an integral part of the negotiating team that produced the latest collective bargaining agreement. Uc is a passionate and hands-on leader who will be missed on campus. At Uc’s request, no retirement celebration will be held, but he may be reached at ruc@calpoly.edu.

In Memoriam
Cal Poly Professor Emeritus David L. George died at Bayside Care Center in Morro Bay on May 11. George graduated at the top of his high school class while lettering in football, basketball and baseball. After attending Mira Costa College in Oceanside, he transferred to San Diego State University with a football scholarship. He graduated with a history degree in 1961. He married Barbara Gabriel in 1964 and served in the U.S. Air Force Reserves from 1961-67. George earned his master’s degree in political science from SDSU and his doctorate in political science from the University of Oregon. He completed post-doctoral studies at the University of Michigan and was a visiting professor at SDSU. George served for a year in the CSU Chancellor's Office. He was a political science professor at Cal Poly from 1970 until his retirement in 2005. He influenced generations of students to aspire, excel and achieve. George was a voracious reader of professional journals and nonfiction books and articles relating to history, social justice, culture and politics.
