Cal Poly Update on Coronavirus, Campus Response and Prevention

Cal Poly is monitoring the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19), an outbreak of respiratory disease caused by a novel coronavirus. To date, there are no confirmed cases in San Luis Obispo County or at Cal Poly. The university is following the guidance of our public health partners, including the County of San Luis Obispo Public Health Department and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The university is also working closely with the CSU Chancellor's Office for guidance. On March 9, the CSU suspended all international and non-essential domestic travel through May 31. Visit <https://chw.calpoly.edu/coronavirus> for details. Cal Poly also encourages faculty, staff and students to forgo travel to domestic areas with a significant number of coronavirus cases (at present these include Seattle, New York, Los Angeles and the Bay Area). Campus Dining and other campus services will remain open during spring break. Campus community members can follow the CDC's guidance to protect themselves and others by washing hands frequently, covering coughs and sneezes, staying home when sick, and cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched surfaces.

In Memoriam

Katcho Achadjian, former state assemblyman, San Luis Obispo County supervisor and longtime supporter of Cal Poly, died last week. Achadjian was honored at the 2019 Honored Alumni celebration in November. He immigrated to the U.S. in 1971 at the age of 19 and attended Cuesta College before transferring to Cal Poly, graduating in 1976 with a degree in business administration. Achadjian and his wife Araxie (Business Administration, '90) stayed connected to Cal Poly. Throughout his career, Achadjian mentored students, spoke to classes and supported the university. His most recent connection to Cal Poly is through the many hours he spent as a volunteer and mentor to students in Professor Chris Den Hartog's California Bill Project class in the Political Science Department. The class takes students through the Learn by Doing process of developing a bill, from its first inception to drafting the legislation and bringing it to a vote. The original idea for the class was born out of an idea that he brought to President Armstrong and developed with Den Hartog. He also accompanied Den Hartog and the students to Sacramento to help them lobby for their bills. His knowledge, connections, experience and expertise in the State Legislature were key in getting the bills passed.
