Cal Poly Thanks Health Care Workers, Other Essential Employees with 'Light It Blue to Thank You' Effort

Through May 31, several buildings and landmarks on campus will be illuminated with blue light to recognize and thank all health care workers who have been providing support, guidance and care for those affected by the COVID-19 pandemic. The south side of the Cal Poly Recreation Center, Performing Arts Center, and Grand Avenue entrance to campus will be lit, starting at dusk each evening. The lights symbolize appreciation for everyone who helped prepare the county's Alternate Care Site at the ASI Recreation Center; the more than 600 community medical volunteers who are signed up and trained to run the ACS if it's ever needed to treat COVID-19 patients; and about 50 additional county personnel who work occasionally at the ACS or perform administrative functions. The lights recognize the many "essential personnel" who continue to keep the university's campus clean, safe and operational for students and staff during this pandemic challenge, as well as those serving the entire San Luis Obispo County community. The effort is a joint project involving the Facilities Management and Development department, Performing Arts Center San Luis Obispo, and ASI. In addition, the Facilities team painted the Cal Poly "P" blue on May 21. It will remain blue through the light-up effort.

Campus COVID-19 Updates: Share Public Health Messages, Help Housing with Move Out

The Campus Health and Wellbeing team has developed positive public health messages to remind the campus community to continue to engage in safe and thoughtful practices, especially in public spaces, to "Spread Kindness. Not COVID 19." View and share the messages by following Campus Health and Wellbeing on Instagram (<https://www.instagram.com/mycpwell/>) and Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/mycpwell/>). Campus community members can do their part by wearing a cloth face covering in public, maintaining 6 feet of social distance and washing hands with soap and water for 20 seconds. Meanwhile, University Housing continues to ask faculty and staff to help move students out of campus residence halls and apartments. Currently active employees, including student assistants who are currently working on campus, can sign up for two-hour shifts from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. through June 14. Volunteers are especially needed on June 6, 12, 13 and 14. Employees must get approval from their supervisor first. Sign up for a shift at <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/5080d44aca928a0ff2-20201>. Helpers must wear face coverings and gloves; University Housing will provide these items if needed. For updates and information about the university's response to the COVID-19 pandemic, continue to visit coronavirus.calpoly.edu.

Cal Poly Corporation Chief Executive Officer Candidates to Visit Campus Virtually

Senior Vice President Cynthia Vizcaino Villa has accepted the recommendation of the Cal Poly Corporation Chief Executive Officer (CEO) Search Committee, chaired by Renee Reijo Pera, vice president for Research and Economic Development, to invite four finalists for the position to visit campus virtually between May 26-29. An open forum will be held with each candidate for faculty, staff, students and the campus community to participate. All faculty, staff and students are encouraged to attend the open forums on the following dates and times:

- Wednesday, May 27, from 9-10 a.m.
- Wednesday, May 27, from 1-2 p.m.
- Friday, May 29, from 9-10 a.m.
- Friday, May 29, from 1-2 p.m.

Resumes will be sent through a MustMail announcement prior to each forum. To join, participants will need to use their Zoom account associated with their @calpoly.edu email address.

Data Cookbook Coming to Cal Poly

The Office of Data Management has recently implemented the Data Cookbook to provide a central, automated process for all data access requests. Starting June 1, all requests for data from the Cal Poly community must be made via the Data Cookbook. The Data Cookbook will automate the data access process and provide consistency, streamlining data requests for all members of the campus community. For more information on the Data Cookbook, detailed instructions and a link to login, visit ir.calpoly.edu/data-cookbook.

International Center to Hold Language Workshops May 27-28

The campus community is invited to sign up for mini language lessons from around the world on May 27-28. Each 20-minute session covers basic vocabulary and phrases in different languages. The language sessions and links will be posted at international.calpoly.edu. Anyone with questions can email international@calpoly.edu.

Need New Lab or Teaching Equipment? Mechanical Engineering Students May Be Able to Help

For their senior project, mechanical engineering students work in small teams to design, build and test a mechanical system to meet a sponsor's needs. Project results include a final report and tested prototype. The department waives the course fee for on-campus sponsors, so the only expense is the cost to build/test the final prototype. Projects starting in the fall will finish in June 2021. Learn more at <https://me.calpoly.edu/senior-project/sponsor>. This fall, the department is looking for over 40 new design challenges for its teams. Anyone with an idea that they'd like to discuss can contact Peter Schuster at pschuste@calpoly.edu.

International Center to Host 'Virtual Exchange' Symposium May 27-29

The International Center will host an Internationalization Symposium May 27-29. Faculty are invited to join a workshop, "Virtual Exchange: Connecting Cal Poly to the World" from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday, May 29, co-sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts. Mohamed Abdel-Kader, executive director of the Stevens Initiative at the Aspen Institute, and his colleagues will discuss how to design a virtual program and integrate virtual international exchange into current courses, provide a few virtual exchange models, and discuss available grant funding. The 90-minute webinar will be followed by a 30-minute Q&A session. This workshop is limited to 40 participants. Register at <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/faculty-workshop-virtual-exchange-design-tickets-105812873152?aff=CalPolyReportlisting>. Abdel-Kader will also present a webinar to students on "What Students Need to Know about International Virtual Exchange: The Experience and Skills Gained" from 11 a.m. to noon Thursday, May 28. Students can register at https://calpoly.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_i-FyJVmDRKuKHiPM8DIYnA.

'American Revolutionary: The Evolution of Grace Lee Boggs' Virtual Screening to be Held

In celebration of Asian, Pacific Islander and Desi American Heritage Month, join Teach ON! and the Kennedy Library for a virtual screening of the documentary "American Revolutionary: The Evolution of Grace Lee Boggs." This limited screening is now available to faculty, staff and students until Wednesday, June 3. In conjunction, Kennedy Library and APIFSA will host a film discussion during the Teach ON! at 3 p.m. Thursday, May 28. Both can be accessed through the Teach ON! Canvas site at <https://canvas.calpoly.edu/courses/25041> (log into your Cal Poly account to access the site). The film dives into Grace Lee Boggs's lifetime of vital thinking and action, traversing the major U.S. social movements of the last century: from labor to civil rights, to Black Power, feminism, the Asian American and environmental justice movements and beyond. Boggs willingness to re-evaluate and change tactics in relation to the world shifting around her help tell this transformative story, a story that includes comrades Angela Davis, Bill Moyers, Bill Ayers, Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis, Danny Glover, Boggs's late husband James, and a host of Detroit comrades across three generations.

Retirements

Sherrill Flohaug, administrative support coordinator for Information Technology Services (ITS), will retire on June 2 after 20 years at Cal Poly. Flohaug began her career at Cal Poly in the Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering Department before moving to ITS. Prior to her current role on the ITS finance team, Flohaug worked in PolyCard Services where she helped grow the part-time, fledgling program into one of the highest volume identification card offices in the CSU system. Always patient with students, parents and employees, her customer service and teamwork defined PolyCard Services. In retirement, Flohaug looks forward to playing golf and spending time with her husband in their new home in the Las Vegas area.
