Diversity Specialist Returns to Campus Nov. 8

Cal Poly will welcome Kimberly McLaughlin-Smith, a diversity specialist at the University of North Carolina-Wilmington, back to campus Nov. 8 to lead further conversations around diversity, inclusion, community-building and allyship. Students, staff, faculty and the San Luis Obispo community are invited to attend an event from 8:30 to 11 a.m. titled "Allyship: Making it Work on Your Campus and In Our Community."

McLaughlin-Smith will provide a guide to lasting allyship — being willing to use your privilege to take on the task of fighting and speaking up for those who have experienced oppression — through empathetic listening and learning useful to everyone in an inclusive climate. Later that day, she'll lead a student-focused event from 5-7 p.m. in the PAC Pavilion. Spoken word poetry will lead the way to open dialog between students of various backgrounds. All students are welcome to attend. For more information about diversity and inclusion at Cal Poly, visit <https://diversity.calpoly.edu/>.

yak?itvutvu Grand Opening Celebration To Be Held Nov. 8

Cal Poly will celebrate the grand opening of the yak?itvutvu housing community on Thursday, Nov. 8, with a host of activities and cultural programs for the campus community. The university's celebration will kick off at 2 p.m. with tours of buildings and the community's unique landscaping features, followed by a 3 p.m. dedication ceremony. There will also be educational booths, native foods and music. Named in honor of the indigenous peoples of San Luis Obispo County, the Northern Chumash, yak?itvutvu opened in September and features seven buildings that collectively house 1,475 first-year students. Located at the Grand Avenue entrance to campus, the LEED-designed community includes a roof-mounted 1.1 megawatt solar system, a campus welcome center, open space with native plants, study and community rooms, laundry facilities, office and workspace, among other amenities. Go to http://www.alumni.calpoly.edu/s/699/alumni/index.aspx?sid=699&gid=1&pgid=1414&content_id=1804 to RSVP.

For more information or to purchase tickets to other volleyball matches, visit www.gopoly.com.

Retirements

Joan Kennedy will retire on Dec. 31 after 34 years of service to Kennedy Library and Cal Poly. Kennedy has had a profound impact throughout her career, working in almost every department in Kennedy Library. In 1983, she earned a Master of Arts degree in education, counseling and guidance from Cal Poly and then started her career at Kennedy Library with positions in Learning Resources, Special Collections and University Archives, Circulation and Collection Management. In addition to her library work, Kennedy has had a major impact on our campus and across the CSU in her various roles in Chapter 316 of CSUEU, especially as chapter president since 2007. CSUEU Vice President Jeff Nadel said, "Joan has been key and instrumental on campus committees and labor relations, workplace and civility issues in leading and participating in such areas as diversity committees, the Cal Poly Equity Compensation Program, and campus climate surveys, to name a few." President Armstrong said, "Joan has been a valued member of the Cal Poly family for many years, and her personal commitment and loyalty throughout her career have made our university a better place. A reception will be held in Kennedy's honor from 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 12, in Kennedy Library, Room 209.
