Cal Poly Launches World's First University-Based Cloud Innovation Center Powered by Amazon Web Services

Through a strategic relationship, Cal Poly and Amazon Web Services (AWS), launched the Cal Poly Digital Transformation Hub powered by AWS (DT-Hub). The DT-Hub has been created to accelerate digital transformation in the government, education and nonprofit sectors through the application of cloud technologies. It combines the power of proven AWS innovation techniques with the deep subject matter expertise and Learn by Doing philosophy of Cal Poly students and faculty. To meet real-world public sector digital transformation challenges, the DT-Hub will establish innovation communities composed of the practitioners and experts that truly understand the specific problem or opportunity being addressed. The CSU system, California state and local government expertise, and commercial innovators will be key members of these communities. Together, they will address innovation challenges such as creating more efficient methods for storing and using police body camera data, reducing the cost for agricultural research, and using technology to fight human trafficking.

Dean Appointed to California State Board of Food and Agriculture

College of Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences Dean Andrew Thulin has been appointed by Gov. Jerry Brown to the California State Board of Food and Agriculture. Thulin will serve on the 15-member state board as an advisory member to the governor and secretary of food and agriculture on issues such as food safety and animal health. The California State Board of Food and Agriculture is carefully selected to represent a broad range of agricultural commodities, a variety of geographic regions and both the University of California and California State University academic systems. Thulin has served as dean of the College of Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences since 2013.

Fidelity Investments Consultations and Walk-Ins to be Held Oct. 26-27

Cal Poly's local Fidelity Investments representative, Christel Whittier, will be on campus Thursday and Friday, Oct. 26 and 27, conducting individual in-person consultations. Walk-ins are welcome Oct. 27 in the afternoon for anyone who has questions about consolidating prior workplace plans from former employers and/or from the Cal State legacy 403(b) providers, as well as enrollment questions. All in-person consultations and the walk-in session will be held in the Administration Building (No. 1), Room 118. Attendance is subject to supervisory approval and based on departmental operational needs. To schedule an in-person consultation, visit www.getguidance.fidelity.com.

Flu Shots Available on Campus Oct. 25-26

Want a flu shot but haven't made it to the pharmacy yet? Rite Aid Pharmacy is coming to Cal Poly to administer flu shots to students, faculty and staff. Bring a health insurance card, ID and cash or credit card. Flu shots will be administered from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 25 and 26, in the University Union Plaza. Students can also receive the flu vaccine at the Health Center during nursing hours. The cost of the flu vaccine is $17. Learn more at <https://hcs.calpoly.edu/content/health/vaccinations>. The flu virus changes every year, requiring a current-year flu shot for maximum effectiveness. Protect yourself from getting this dangerous infection: get vaccinated, wash your hands frequently (especially before meals) and stay home if you are ill to avoid spreading the virus. Questions? Call ext. 6-1211.

Cal Poly Enters James Beard Burger Competition

Cal Poly is competing this fall for the honored distinction of having the most popular blended campus hamburger in the nation, and voters will have the chance to win $1,000. The Blended Burger Project: Campus Edition is a new program by the James Beard Foundation that allows college campuses to submit their own version of the "The Blend," a burger made with a mixture of mushroom and any ground meat of the chef's choosing. The winner is determined by online voting. Participants can vote once a day at <https://calpolydining.com/vote> through Dec. 15. Voters are entered to win a $1,000 on-campus gift certificate or a $100 VISA gift card. Executive Chef Ken Kline created a ground buffalo, sage and portabella mushroom burger. The Mushroom Buffalo Burger is available for a limited time at Canyon Café, Bishop Craft Burger and Campus Market.
