President Armstrong Welcomes Faculty, Staff to New Academic Year

President Armstrong kicked off the official start of the academic year at Fall Convocation on Sept. 12 by honoring the past, celebrating the present, and looking toward the future. Addressing an audience of campus community members in the Performing Arts Center, Armstrong shared two main areas of focus: improving diversity, equity and inclusion at Cal Poly, including bettering campus climate and creating a campus community that more closely reflects the demographics of California, and enhancing recruitment and retention of faculty and staff, including raising salaries and placing a special emphasis on recruiting and retaining more tenure-track faculty. Accomplishing these core goals, he added, will require the university to generate alternative sources of revenue and be as efficient and effective as possible. Following his remarks, Armstrong honored 14 faculty and staff members who received annual awards. View profiles of the awardees and watch a video of the event at <https://fallconference.calpoly.edu/>.

State of Diversity Series Kick-off Set for Sept. 30

Join the Cross Cultural Centers (CCC) and the Office of University Diversity and Inclusion (OUDI) for the State of Diversity Series kick-off event and light refreshments from 5 to 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 30, in Chumash Auditorium in the University Union. The theme of the first State of Diversity event is "State of Diversity at Cal Poly: Acknowledging the Past, Recognizing the Present, Looking Forward." Come hear remarks from campus leaders and a panel discussion featuring faculty, staff and students from across the university, moderated by Julie Garcia, interim associate vice president for diversity and inclusion. Garcia and the panel will discuss some of the demographic trends and successful programs that are making Cal Poly more diverse and a more inclusive campus for everyone. Anyone with questions or needing to request accommodations can contact the CCC at culture@calpoly.edu.

Listening Sessions Set for Provost Recruitment and Search

The Cal Poly Provost Search Committee has contracted with the professional search firm of Isaacson, Miller to assist in a nationwide recruitment of the university's next provost. Representatives from Isaacson, Miller will be on campus to meet with the committee members and also to conduct listening sessions on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 26-27. The listening sessions will provide an opportunity for the campus community to offer input and feedback on what qualities, characteristics and expertise are most important for Cal Poly's next provost. Your thoughts and insight are essential to this collaborative process, and the committee hopes you will be able to attend one of the sessions listed below. Anyone who is unable to attend may email Isaacson, Miller directly with any comments, suggestions or a nomination. Nominations and applications can be directed to www.imsearch.com/7190; general feedback can be directed to Angela Finocchiaro at afinocchiaro@IMSearch.com.

Cal Poly Report

Sept. 18, 2019

Save the Date: Campus Invited to Hear CPX Survey Findings, Attend Sessions Oct. 17-18

Learn how Cal Poly will embrace the journey toward Inclusive Excellence. On Oct. 17 and 18, Damon A. Williams and his team will return to campus to present the results of the CPX (Cal Poly Experience) Survey conducted during the 2019 spring quarter, and to lead a daylong Strategic Diversity Leadership Institute. Williams will present findings from the CPX Survey from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 17, in the Cal Poly Recreation Center Multi-Activity Center. On Friday, Oct. 18, Williams and his team will engage the campus in deeper conversations during a daylong series of sessions in the Strategic Diversity Leadership Institute from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Space is limited for these sessions, and access will be on a first-come, first-served basis. Registration information will be posted soon at <https://diversity.calpoly.edu/>.

Cal Poly Switches to eduroam Wi-Fi

Cal Poly is now using eduroam as its primary Wi-Fi network for students, faculty and staff. If you've never connected to eduroam before, it requires a one-time setup for each device, using your full Cal Poly email address and password. Once connected, you'll be able to instantly access eduroam Wi-Fi when traveling to any of the thousands of other member educational and research institutions across the U.S. and worldwide. For help getting connected and more information about the unique benefits of eduroam, visit <http://bit.ly/CPWiFi>. Questions? Contact the ITS Service Desk at servicedesk@calpoly.edu or ext. 6-7000.

Career Services Accepting Donations of Professional Clothing for Clothing Closet Sept. 27

Career Services will host its fifth annual Professional Clothing Closet event on Friday, Sept. 27, to provide free, work-appropriate clothes to students in need. First impressions can significantly impact a student's chances for success, and many students struggle to afford professional clothing for career fairs and interviews. Faculty and staff are asked to consider donating dry-cleaned, gently used, contemporary professional clothing. Want to support, but don't have clothes to donate? Visit https://www.amazon.com/hz/wishlist/ls/3BLYXMYUGE1EC/ref=hz_ls_biz_ex to view a wishlist. Career Services has selected a menu of professional clothes; you choose and purchase the clothes, and they'll be shipped directly to Career Services. It's that easy. For more details about donating clothes via drop-off or the Amazon Wishlist, visit the Clothing Closet page at <https://careerservices.calpoly.edu/explore-services/trending/professional-clothing-closet>. Questions? Call Career Services at ext. 6-2501.

Applications Being Accepted for the Cal Poly Learning Lab Preschool

The Cal Poly Psychology and Child Development Preschool Learning Lab — which is open to the entire campus community — is accepting applications for new students for the 2019-20 school year. Children of faculty and staff receive priority. The program focuses on inquiry-based learning experiences that encourage each child's natural interest in science, technology, engineering and mathematics. The lab offers a low teacher-child ratio, while providing a high-quality preschool atmosphere that supports the developmental needs of the whole child in a warm, nurturing, play-based environment. For more information, visit <https://preschoollearninglab.calpoly.edu/>.
