

CAL POLY
— 26TH ANNUAL —
OPEN HOUSE
APRIL 11-13, 2019

ERICA BASHAW
Journalism, '11

Erica Bashaw serves as a staff attorney for the Children's Law Center of California (CLC) and represents Los Angeles County foster children who are impacted by abuse and neglect. In her current role, Erica appears in court daily to advocate for family reunification, legal permanency, and access to services on behalf of her clients. Before CLC, Erica represented parents in the same system at Los Angeles Dependency Lawyers, Inc. While at Cal Poly, Erica interned at the Orange County Public Defender's Office and later worked at the criminal defense and family law firm Alton & Allen in San Luis Obispo.

R.J. POMEROY
Theatre Arts and Business Administration, '06

R.J. Pomeroy is an Executive Producer for the advertising agency TBWA\Media Arts Lab, which represents Apple Inc. After graduating, R.J. and his wife, Janell, worked in London before moving to Los Angeles. He started his career working as a P.A. for a VFX studio, Method, and working various on-set jobs before landing at Media Arts Lab. He has been fortunate to work on groundbreaking, creative advertising for nearly every product Apple makes, over the last 10 years. R.J. has two children and serves as a team captain for Walk MS in Pasadena.

JAMIE MARAVIGLIA
English, '05

Jamie Maraviglia began her career at the Clark Center for the Performing Arts where she eventually became the director of marketing and operations. After leaving the Clark Center, she joined Verdin, a SLO-based marketing firm where she crafted and executed award-winning campaigns for a variety of private businesses, non-profits and governmental organizations. Jamie is currently a digital marketing strategist for Cal Poly's University Marketing department and is working on modernizing the university's digital presence. She is heavily involved with her community and serves on the board of the Clark Center, as well as on the City of Arroyo Grande's Parks and Recreation Commission. Jamie is also one of the top national fundraisers for the March of Dimes.

SARAH STORELLI
English, '11

Sarah Storelli serves as the Program Director for IBM's Code and Response Ecosystem, overseeing the marketing and communications strategies for IBM's key partners including the American Red Cross, the Clinton Foundation and more. She is a chair, founder, and/or member of seven advisory boards for Cal Poly ranging from Member of the CLA Dean's Advisory Council to Founder of Friends for H.O.P.E. (Health Outreach and Prevention Education) in support of Cal Poly Mental Health initiatives. Sarah also serves on advisory boards for Rutgers University and Project Owl. She is a former Public Relations Society of America Silicon Valley Chapter President, elected official of the SFGOP Central Committee, Cal Poly Bay Area Alumni Chapter President and Cal Poly ASI (i.e. Student Body) President.

cla.calpoly.edu/open-house

You can find Cal Poly CLA on