WEEKLY NEWS

Note from Dr. Kirby

I hope everyone is studying hard for the finals and putting the finishing touches on any projects you have due. I also want to wish you a good break as you get away from Cal Poly for a few weeks and hopefully re-charge your batteries.

A reminder that my office hours are Tu 1-3PM and Th 1-3PM. You can drop by my office at these times or you can contact me via Zoom using this link: 6247671135. As always, I am also happy to set up other meeting times if you are not able to make these office hours. Just send me an email and we can arrange a day/time.

ISLA/LAES 411: Technology and Community Engagement

Winter 2024
M/W: 8:10 – 10:00
Course Number: 8500
Instructor: Dr. Matthew Harsh

Help create an immersive experience to engage California communities about the decommissioned oil rigs off the Santa Barbara coast and what to do with them. Work with international students from Birmingham City University in the UK, with a possible opportunity to travel to the UK in Spring. Learn, practice and critically analyze community assessment and cross-cultural collaboration. Get hands-on design experience and produce a product to showcase to future employers. Work with the Center for Expressive Technologies, the LAES Program and use facilities in the new Frost Building. Class combines seminars, lectures, guest speakers and critical reflection with project-based work.

First Generation Student Course Offering

We are currently enrolling for the UNIV 111 class: First Generation College Students Group Dialogue for Winter Quarter. This a CR/NC 1-unit course that is intended to address issues common for First Generation College Students who hold marginalized identities.

We will be offering two sections of the class: Monday 2:10PM-4PM and Tuesday 2:10-4PM. Each section can enroll up to 10 students.

The class is an excellent opportunity to meet other students and mentors with similar backgrounds and shared experiences, while instilling a sense of community. It is a great resource for students who are struggling to adjust to Cal Poly and who may be underrepresented &/or marginalized on this campus. In the class, students are encouraged to discover new strengths and potentials that help them thrive at Cal Poly. We share information about resources on campus that will support their academic success. We focus on building skills to manage stressors unique to their experiences.

Our class will offer students the opportunity to prioritize their topics of interest and curriculum will then reflect the emerging needs of students involved.

If a student is interested, they may scan the QR code in the flyer to request a permission code. The link is included here: Interest Form.

EVENTS

GRAY AREAS: HOW THE WAY WE WORK PERPETUATES RACISM AND WHAT WE CAN DO TO FIX IT

Guest lecture by Dr. Adia Harvey Wingfield

Dr. Wingfield specializes in research that examines the ways that intersections of race, gender, and class impact social processes at work. In her talk, she will discuss her new book, which explores the ways that racial inequity persists in the workplace despite today's multi-billion-dollar diversity industry and provides actionable solutions to creating a truly equitable multiracial future.

Adia Harvey Wingfield is the Mary Tileston Hemenway Professor of Arts & Sciences and Vice Dean for Faculty Development and Diversity at Washington University in St. Louis. She has lectured internationally and published widely, including books such as No More Invisible Man: Race and Gender in Men's Work (2012, Temple University Press) and Flatlining: Race, Work, and Health Care in the New Economy (2019, University of California Press). Dr. Wingfield has also served as President of Sociologists for Women in Society (SWS) and the Southern Sociological Society (SSS), and she is President-Elect of the American Sociological Association.

Thursday, December 7, 2023 | 2:10-4:00 PM
ATL (Building 7), Room 286

This event is presented by CLA Lottery Speaker Funds and the WGQS Department and is co-sponsored by the Social Sciences and Computer Science and Software Engineering Departments. Funding has also been provided by the American Sociological Association's Sorokin Lecture Grant. It is free and open to the public.

Cal Poly encourages inclusivity in all its programs and activities. If you would like any type of accommodation, including (but not limited to) physical access, Deaf/Hard of Hearing services, or adapted materials, please contact Dr. Kylie Parrotta (parrotta@calpoly.edu) in advance of your participation.

Guest Speaker: Dr. Adia Harvey Wingfield

There is an upcoming talk by renowned scholar Dr. Adia Harvey Wingfield on 12/7 at 2:10 PM in the Advanced Technology Laboratory. The topic is her new book, Gray Areas: How the Way We Work Perpetuates Racism and What We Can Do to Fix It. We hope to see you there!

Art Exhibit - LIFELIKE

LIFELIKE, a group exhibition curated by writer, curator and artist Katie Peyton Hofstadter, explores the work of ten artists logging biological, genetic, and behavioral information on a digital ledger, to invoke a conversation about body sovereignty in our technopresent. The exhibition also features an interactive and VR experience, presented by EPOCH, and a performance schedule spanning the Cal Poly University Gallery, the San Luis Obispo Museum of Art (SLOMA) and the Center for Expressive Technologies (CET).

The artists in this exhibition are interested in what it will mean, and how it will feel, to have a body in a future where wetware (living tissue) serves as a foundation for technology, where medical implants monitor not only our hearts and minds, but also our experiences and relationships; and where decisions are made by programs even their creators do not fully understand. Today, phones harvest information about our bodies and behaviors by default. How does it feel to seek digital connection when our every swipe, movement, and private message is under surveillance?

Using their own bodies, these artists stress-test the present and near-future, probing how information flows between our biological and virtual identities, and expanding our vocabulary through imaginative scenarios. By bringing a creative lens to the conversation, they invite the possibility that the lab rats might now take back control.

This exhibition expands the ideas put forth in Hofstadter's text, Bodies on the Blockchain (2022).

The opening ceremony will occur next Thursday, October 12, 5:30-7:30pm in the University Art Gallery (Dexter, Building 34). For more information go to the University Art Gallery web page.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES AND INTERNSHIPS

Study Abroad in London Next Summer!

A note from Professor of Geography, Benjamin Timms:

We would like to invite you to join us in London next summer! This is a great opportunity to take upper division GE courses (prerequisites waived) and experience London and environs, which is one of the world's great cultural and economic centers. Here is a QR code to take you to the program website for more information:

<https://abroad.calpoly.edu/index.cfm?FuseAction=Programs.ViewProgramAngular&id=10889>

The six-week summer program offers students twelve Cal Poly units with three upper-division general education courses (B, C, D). Note that prerequisites will be waived for those that will be 2nd year status or don't meet the others.

Please view the website, contact the faculty members, and seriously consider coming to London next summer! Note the Olympics will be in Paris next summer, just a 2 hour train ride away.

Civic Tech Fellowship Opportunity - United States Digital Corps

The US Digital Corps is about to start their application process on Monday November 6th. The Digital Corps is a two-year, full-time, paid fellowship for early-career technologists to serve in the federal government. Fellows contribute their skills in software engineering, data science & analytics, product management, design, and cybersecurity to high impact priorities across government. The fellowship offers competitive pay ($86k+ in Washington DC) and benefits, as well as opportunities for growth and a path to a long-term career position. The Digital Corps offers in-person, hybrid, or remote work, depending on the host agency.

If anyone is interested in learning more about the application process, they can visit the USDC website. As mentioned above, applications open on Monday, November 6th. They do have a cap on applications per track, so it's recommended to apply sooner than later. Any questions about the process can also be sent to usdigitalcorps@gsa.gov

For any questions about civic technology or the application process, reach out to Jaxon Silva (<mailto:jaxonvsilva@gmail.com>)

Videographer Opportunity at Big Brothers Big Sisters

A note from Madi Walker:

My name is Madi Walker, and I am an AmeriCorps VIP Member at Big Brothers Big Sisters of San Luis Obispo County, a local non-profit in the area! I am reaching out to you with an opportunity for students in ISLA and STS.

In May 2024, we are hosting our annual BIG Event, a fundraising event that raises critical funds and encourages people in the community to become a mentor to an at-risk child in the area. We are currently looking for a Cal Poly student to create a short 4-5 minute film with the guidance of our Development Director. This film will highlight the stories of a few matches in SLO County as a way to show the power of mentorship and encourage more community engagement with our organization that we can share at the BIG Event.

Call for Submissions: Intertidal Literature Journal

Attention all writers and artists!

Intertidal is a literary and art journal that aims to reflect Cal Poly writers and artists of all experience levels, backgrounds, and majors in their growth and connection through creativity.

To honor our journal's vision of inclusivity and diversity, we welcome and encourage students, staff, and faculty of all identities, academic disciplines, and experience levels within the Cal Poly community to submit works of creative writing and visual art. We want to hear from you!

Vol. 2 Vision Statement: Like a California tide pool flourishing with an abundant display of marine life, Cal Poly is home to an equally diverse array of literary and artistic talents. The 2024 issue of the Intertidal literary journal will showcase these talents, allowing readers to peer into a realm of creative expression that celebrates our university's multilayered ecosystem.

Submissions may include but are not limited to the following genres: short fiction, poems, essays, screenplay excerpts, comic strips, photography, paintings, and illustrations.

Requirements: The window for submissions is open now until Friday, 12/08/23. Writing submissions must not exceed 15 pages. Visual art submissions must not exceed 5 pieces.

Submit your work here:

Cal Poly HSI High Impact Mini-Grant Program

<https://diversity.calpoly.edu/cal-poly-hsi-high-impact-mini-grant-program>

Deadline: Nov 30, 2023

Cal Poly strives to be a university that enhances student success by creating a culturally rich environment of diversity and inclusion, academic excellence, and social responsibility. To further our mission of becoming an Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) that thinks critically and holistically about serving the Latinx/e community, we are excited to announce the Cal Poly HSI High Impact Mini-Grant Program for AY23-24. This program is designed to support initiatives that advance our goals of "servingness" in our efforts to become an HSI. Up to ten mini-grants will be awarded ranging from $500 to $5,000 for projects and programs that demonstrate a strong potential to holistically impact the Latinx/e community at Cal Poly.

Eligibility:

All Faculty, staff, and students at Cal Poly are eligible to apply including individuals, organizations, departments, and units.

Project Focus: Proposed projects should align with the mission of Cal Poly's pathway to becoming an HSI and center the experiences of the Latinx/e community.

Applicants may apply for mini-grants in the following categories:

Educational Initiatives: Projects that enhance educational opportunities and outcomes for Latinx/e students, such as curriculum development, mentorship programs, or academic support services.

Cultural and Community Engagement: Initiatives that promote Latinx/e culture, heritage, and community engagement on campus, including cultural events, workshops, and awareness campaigns.

Research and Innovation: Projects that support research endeavors and innovations that address issues relevant to the Latinx/e community or contribute to the advancement of Cal Poly's HSI status in STEM, as a Predominantly White Institution, as a CSU etc.

More details here: here: <https://diversity.calpoly.edu/cal-poly-hsi-high-impact-mini-grant-program>

Student Professional Development Grant

Student Grant Opportunity

The Cal Poly Student Professional Development Fund awards up to $2,500 in scholarship to eligible students to support career exploration, including conference and seminar travel, attending scholarly seminars or symposiums, participating in research initiatives with faculty, and many other extracurricular opportunities related to your major.

This fund aims to support applicants who demonstrate financial need, as determined by the Financial Aid Office, in attending and participating in a variety of opportunities that could aid their career exploration.

Interested in Sustainable Global Development?

Engineers Without Borders, Cal Poly is a student-led non-profit organization that supports community-driven development programs worldwide through the design and implementation of sustainable engineering projects, while creating multidisciplinary and leadership experiences for students. With four international project teams in Fiji, Kenya, Nicaragua, and Local, we work to address issues such as water, education, food security, sanitation, and energy by collaborating with our partnered communities.

We are hoping to diversify the majors represented in our club in order to fill roles in business and cultural sub teams as well as to harness cross-disciplinary perspectives in designing holistic solutions that fit the needs of our communities.

Whether you're passionate about business development, cultural insights, leadership opportunities, or making a positive impact, EWB has a place for you.
