

Aaron Lee is a recent UC Davis graduate with a bachelor's degree in Sustainable Agriculture and Food Systems. He is currently the Agricultural Management Specialist at Swanton Pacific Ranch. His passion for agriculture was sparked by working summers on his grandfather's farm in Missoula, Montana growing wheat and hay. From there Aaron gained experience in agro-ecology and sustainable land use at UC Davis, where he worked in both laboratory and field environments. His interests include fishing, camping, Brazilian Jiu Jitsu, and growing healthy food.